

Tricks of the Trade provide you with perspectives to help you work effectively with youth, peers, and those you supervise.

Inquiry is your friend. Ask questions until you have confirmed understanding. Socrates would answer questions with additional questions. These questions were always thought provoking and intended to clarify a person's understanding. Beware of using questions as an inquisition.

In the beginning when you first start to debrief activities, ask the following three questions:

Include time for transitions in your schedule. In the beginning give ii more time than you think ii will take and identify ways to quickly celebrate your success in completing with time to spare.